I normally like to keep this ins my car so I do not have to plug my phone in all the time. The reason being is that I dont want my phone to be drained or taxed playing music. This product right out of the box is very well packaged. It provides you with the type C USB cable, headphones, and a clear case for the MP3 player. The headphones feel a bit cheap so I do recommend purchasing a better pair. It is Bluetooth capable so you can use Bluetooth headphones if you wish. The first thing I have to say about it is that the front facing glass is beautiful. It is not something that you can easily scratch and provides a nice clear video. The user interface is pretty simple and easy to use.

<http://www.eau-petit-pont.com/images/calculatation-excel-manual.pdf>

The interface has several different functions from video to reading ebooks. For ebooks it seems to be okay with reading just PDF books which is really nice. The only issue is that I do not want to read on such a small screen. It does have a pretty good radio on it. I did not have too many static issues. It is a nice thing to have when I need to go to those drive in movie theaters. I do not have to use my car radio and risk running my battery out. The battery life varies depending on what you use it for. From what I can tell it can last on average 10 to 12 hours on headphones and 45 hours on speakers with movie running. The charge time varies as well and charges via type c usb cable. The speakers are pretty good and could be used as a standalone if you wished. The arm band that comes with it is definitely not a one size fit all. I think it works well for the average person but if you are bulked out on the arms you may have issues with fitting. I think 8 gb is enough but it does have a micro SD card slot if you wish for more music and video. It can be expanded to 128 gb. I have not tried my bigger SD cards but 128 gb works fine to me. Although it can be a bit laggy scrolling through all the songs trying to read music from hte SD card. The video quality can run at 1080p. It does not have any games on it unfortunately. Honestly it is a great thing to have if you are trying to keep your kids busy as well. You can load this device with cartoons and such and just play from this device rather than your phone. The clear case is nice and protective from scratches but it is easy to take sun damage. I would recommend putting the case on as the back is glossy and prone to scratches. Overall, this Mp3 player does the job for what I want. It plays music, videos, and can even read ebooks. It has a pretty good battery life and takes the strain off my phone. Has a good quality weight to it but it is light for an MP3 player. It does not connect to wifi but it does connect to Bluetooth.

Comes in two colors but only the black one is Bluetooth enabled. Handy apps include calculator and dictionary. Can play music and use other functions at the same time. Player supports a variety of audio and video formats. Charges in less than an hr and has 30 hrs of playtime. The radio requires wired headphones. Package comes with all the accessories you need and more screen protector, clear case, earbuds, charger, adapter. Built in storage is 8gb but the micro SD can have up to 128gb. I keep it at home to play music while getting ready and in the car to connect to Bluetooth and listen to music. Sometimes I take it out to exercise at the gym or when I am traveling to places without service. The player can be connected to a computer or an android device via cable to transfer files. Language can be switched. I was very attracted by its looks and slickness and so had chosen this against many other similar products available on Amazon. I am using this for more than a week now and below are my findings 1. It looks and feels great in hand. Thinner than my iPhone 11, and much smaller in size. However, it doesnt look cheap. 2. In the package, they have included everything necessary wow !. Screen protector, case, wiping cloth everything is included except micro SD card. 3. It has very useful apps like a voice recorder very useful, a calculator, a dictionary and FM preinstalled. I use these apps very often and no longer need to rely on my phone. Other apps like photos and videos are not very useful for my use case but can be for some other users. 4. The sound quality is very good. The touch screen is very sensitive. Overall the apps and UI presentations are good. 6. The device turns off automatically after a few minutes of inactivity. I liked this feature very much. I didnt find any flaws in the device so far and it delivers whatever it promises. There is nothing negative that I can mention.

I know many users wont need such a secondary music player, but whoever does, this must be at the top of their list. Also, I find this a very good item for gifting. The seller refund me all the money without hesitation. The price is super low, so you have to expect something cheap. And it is. Is very very cheap. Everything, the display, the buttons, the connectors everything is from China. My complain on this starts when I splice the cables to joint together with the harness. The cables just broke when hit the blades. Very thin. The camera works but you see the poor quality on it. The display of the radio works like supposed to be, but looks very cheap. I complain with the seller about the problem presented and the seller just refund me. I did not want the refund but he did it. Installation was fairly easy.

Electrical connections were labelled and complied with the standard color scheme to connect to the adapter. Whether the radio is larger than the DIN standard, or Hyundai made the hole smaller, I dont know. The backup camera works fine. Picture quality is nothing special, but for just not backing over the grandkids, its fine. Im disappointed ther screen mirror function is impossible which is what I was really looking forward to. I still think its fair quality for a fair price, but as a mother of 3 it was a disappointment for that reason. Im a fix it all, so even lacking great directions it was simple to install after ther purchase of a pig tail. I asked plenty of questions which were responded to, sadly not helpful answers. Ive still recommended it to friends for the price and accessories. Theyve purchased it, but still no luck with the screen feature. It comes with many different features like Aux and a usb plug in port that lets you share your phone screen and charge it at the same time I find this handy when I have to wait in the car for someone. Of course wires could be annoying but that's why theres Bluetooth and this one works pretty good on my iPhone XR. Whenever I start my car the is automatically connected and I'm able to stream music from any app on the go. However I did dislike some things about the double din. I am not really a fan of the remote controls because they are not practical and don't really fit with my interior. Along with this the double din was a little wider than your standard pioneer or kenwood so you have to Dremel a bit out of the double dins metra dash kit to make it fit. If you're using the metra kit. However the best thing I like about this double din is the simplicity, with these new products you can't get that anymore. It does not mirror and is very basic. It came with the backup camera but we never installed it due to the wires being too short for our 4Runner. Bluetooth is a bit touchy. Sometimes it connects, sometimes it doesnt.

It came with two remotes, one for the steering wheel but it doesnt work the greatest. Its hit or miss if either remote works. Not a bad buy for the price.
